Montessori Schools are all about teaching your child in a way that is natural and conducive to real learning. The technique was created by Maria Montessori as she wanted children to learn by absorbing their surroundings and therefore turn into an all round adult. The technique involves many different areas of study, which include visual study methods. One of the methods involves baskets of different objects which are only used on when on a green mat. The child then understands that this is a learning environment. The child is also encouraged to tidy up behind themselves. This actually creates such a good atmosphere for learning.
